Contributions to New Congregational Church House Fund—Rev. W. S. Beard Inspects Hull House.

At the midweek service at the Congregational church Thursday evening Rev. W. S. Beard announced that the contributions to the new church house fund have reached nearly $17,000. Mr. Beard has been in Boston this week, studying the underlying principles of the Hull House social service work in that city, which has the distinction of being one of the greatest and most successful social settlement movements in this country. Rev. Mr. Beard will refer to his study of this work in his sermon on the Aftermath of the Campaign at the morning service tomorrow.

The Ice Situation.

Friday's chapter in the ice situation revealed the fact that Charles E. Leonard, a local teaming contractor, has secured the first option on L. N. Ayer's ice stock if the city council at its meeting next Monday evening decided not to buy Mr. Ayer's ice. There is a legal doubt whether Willimantic could purchase a private ice plant if it so desired any more than it could buy out a private cigar store and newspaper stand. A prominent and wise citizen made this sharp observation concerning the ice situation Friday: "When leading citizens asked Mayor Dunn and the city council for the privilege of being heard relative to the legislative bill creating the office of city engineer with a life tenure clause, or for good behavior, the same democratic ring, parents of the municipal ice baby, have fallen through the ice and are drowning and are calling for help from the citizens at their meeting next Monday night. Let them get themselves out—if they can!"

Play by Fire Company.

Full of intense situations of thrilling interest was the four-act production Bought and Paid For, by George Broadhurst, at Loomer opera house Thursday evening. The company was one of the strongest ever seen in Willimantic, numbering Charles Millward, George Wright, Clyde Crawford, Harry MacFadden, Miss Julie Herne, Miss Josephine Drake, Miss Marie Hardi.

W. H. S. Defeated Putnam.

The girls' basketball teams of the Putnam and Windham High schools contested for honors Wednesday afternoon at the Valley street armory. It was one of the most exciting games ever played in this city. Windham was "it" from start to finish. Miss Flossie Bates was the heroine with five baskets, some of which were of the "long" variety. Mildred Wells was much in the game.

The Windham guards played a strong game, and for the visitors the Misses Gagne and Davis played well. The lineup and summary: Windham H. S.: Marjorie Harvey, Florence Bates, Mildred Wells, Josephine Emerson, Hazel Davis, Gladys Gagne, May Fuller, Gladys Gagne, May Fuller, Gladys Gagne, May Fuller.

Careless Causes Fire.

The careless lighting of a match by an operative ignited the cotton on a spinning machine at the No. 4 mill of the American Thread company Thursday afternoon. What might have resulted in a serious fire was quickly extinguished by the level-headed work of employees and only very little damage was done.

Injured by Falling Hook.

Lyman Maine, Jr., while painting the residence of Sherwood B. Doolittle, Pleasant street, Thursday afternoon, met with a painful accident. Mr. Maine was on the roof of an ell of the house, adjusting some rope and tackle when a large hook slipped from the roof and struck him on the head and face cutting and bruising it badly.

The average daily attendance at the Windham High school for the winter term was 310, a slight increase over the percentage of last year's average.

Slipping as it entered the railroad's right of way, the horse fell and was captured. There was no great amount of damage.

Proposition to Pay Warden and Burgesses. A proposition that the borough return to the practice of paying the warden and the members of the board of burgesses for their official services is being made and is finding some favor, though the matter has not been strongly urged. Formerly the warden received $50 a year for his services and each of the burgesses $25, but a number of years ago this arrangement was done away with and since then the officials have served without pay.

There is no doubt that the warden will decide to restore the old schedule of payment remains to be seen, but one thing is certain—the officials will not be asked to do so without pay. They give a great deal of time and attention to official business. For this they receive no compensation. The matter of paying the warden and court of burgesses will not come up at the annual borough meeting on Monday, however, as there is no clause in the warrant under which action on such proposition may be taken.

At the mill office Friday afternoon it was stated that there is nothing particularly significant in the change and that the restriction means a loss of only four and a quarter hours each week to the operatives, as it has regularly been closed on Saturdays.
